

Single Equality Policy

Single Equality Policy

School context

The Joseph Whitaker School is a larger than average sized mixed comprehensive school, predominantly serving localities around Rainworth, Blidworth and Ravenshead. The school gained conversion academy status in November 2011 and has been a Specialist Sports College since 2004. The school joined the East Midlands Education Trust in September 2016.

Most students are of White British heritage, with only a few from minority ethnic backgrounds. The percentage of students with special educational needs and/or disabilities, including those with a statement of educational needs, is just below national average. The proportion of students who are known to be eligible for free school meals is just below the national average, and those whose first language is believed not to be English is well below.

Mission statement

The Joseph Whitaker School is committed to ensuring equality of education and opportunity for all students, staff, parents and carers receiving services from the school, irrespective of race, gender, disability, faith or socio-economic background. We aim to develop a culture of inclusion and diversity in which all those connected to the school feel proud of their identity and are able to participate fully in school life and in the local community.

The achievement of students will be monitored by race, gender and disability and we will use this data to support students, raise standards and ensure inclusive teaching.

We will tackle discrimination by the positive promotion of equality, challenging bullying and stereotypes and creating an environment which champions respect for all. At The Joseph Whitaker School, we believe that diversity is a strength, which should be respected and celebrated by all those who learn, teach and visit here.

Guiding principles

In fulfilling the legal obligations cited below, we are guided by nine principles:

Principle 1: All learners are of equal value.

We see all learners and potential learners, and their parents and carers, as of equal value:

- whether or not they have a disability
- whatever their ethnicity, culture, national origin or national status
- whatever their gender and gender identity
- whatever their religious or non-religious affiliation or faith background
- whatever their sexual identity.

Principle 2: We recognise and respect difference.

Treating people equally (Principle 1 above) does not necessarily involve treating them all the same. Our policies, procedures and activities must not discriminate but must nevertheless take account of differences of life-experience, outlook and background, and in the kinds of barrier and disadvantage which people may face, in relation to:

- disability, so that reasonable adjustments are made
- ethnicity, so that different cultural backgrounds and experiences of prejudice are recognised
- gender, so that the different needs and experiences of girls and boys, and women and men, are recognised
- religion, belief or faith background
- sexual identity.

Principle 3: We foster positive attitudes and relationships, and a shared sense of cohesion and belonging.

We intend that our policies, procedures and activities should promote:

- positive attitudes towards people with a disability, good relations between those with and those without a disability, and an absence of harassment of people with a disability
- positive interaction, good relations and dialogue between groups and communities different from each other in terms of ethnicity, culture, religious affiliation, national origin or national status, and an absence of prejudice-related bullying and incidents
- mutual respect and good relations between boys and girls, and women and men, and an absence of sexual and homophobic harassment.

Principle 4: We observe good equalities practice in staff recruitment, retention and development

We ensure that policies and procedures should benefit all employees and potential employees, for example in recruitment and promotion, and in continuing professional development:

- whether or not they have a disability
- whatever their ethnicity, culture, religious affiliation, national origin or national status
- whatever their gender and sexual identity, and with full respect for legal rights relating to pregnancy and maternity.

Principle 5: We aim to reduce and remove inequalities and barriers that already exist

In addition to avoiding or minimising possible negative impacts of our policies, we take opportunities to maximise positive impacts by reducing and removing inequalities and barriers that may already exist between:

- those with and those without protected characteristics
- people of different ethnic, cultural and religious backgrounds
- girls and boys, women and men.

Principle 6: We consult and involve widely

We attempt to engage with a range of groups and individuals to ensure that those who are affected by a policy or activity are consulted and involved in the design of new policies, and in the review of existing ones. We consult and involve:

- people with protected characteristics as well as those without protected characteristics from a range of ethnic, cultural and religious backgrounds
- both women and men, and girls and boys, whatever their gender and sexual identity
- people who have a disability and those who do not.

Principle 7: Society as a whole should benefit

We intend that our policies and activities should benefit society as a whole, both locally and nationally, by fostering greater social cohesion, and greater participation in public life of:

- people with protected characteristics as well as those without protected characteristics
- people of a wide range of ethnic, cultural and religious backgrounds
- both women and men, girls and boys, whatever their gender and sexual identity.

Principle 8: We base our practices on sound evidence

We maintain quantitative and qualitative information about our progress towards greater equality in relation to:

- disability
- ethnicity, religion and culture
- gender.

Principle 9: Objectives

We formulate specific and measurable objectives, based on the evidence we have collected (principle 8) and the engagement in which we have been involved (principle 7), in relation to:

- disability
- ethnicity, religion and culture
- gender.

We recognise that the actions resulting from a policy statement such as this are what make a difference.

Every three years, accordingly, we draw up an action plan within the framework of the overall school improvement plan and processes of self-evaluation, setting out the specific equality objectives we shall pursue. The objectives which we identify take into account national and local priorities and issues, as appropriate.

We keep our equality objectives under review and report annually on progress towards achieving them.

Legal framework

As a school we welcome our duties under the Equality Act 2010. The general duties are to:

- eliminate discrimination,
- advance equality of opportunity
- foster good relations.

We understand the principal of the act and the work needed to ensure that those with protected characteristics are not discriminated against and are given equality of opportunity.

A protected characteristic under the act covers the groups listed below:

- age (for employees not for service provision),
- disability
- race
- sex (including issues of transgender)
- gender reassignment
- maternity and pregnancy
- religion and belief,
- sexual orientation
- Marriage and Civil Partnership (for employees).

In order to meet our general duties, listed above, the law requires us to do some specific duties to demonstrate how we meet the general duties. These are to:

- Publish equality Information – to demonstrate compliance with the general duty across its functions (We will not publish any information that can specifically identify any child)
- Prepare and publish equality objectives

To do this we will collect data related to the protected characteristics above and analyse this data to determine our focus for our equality objectives. The data will be assessed across our core provisions as a school. This will include the following functions:

- Admissions
- Attendance
- Attainment
- Exclusions
- Prejudice related incidents

Addressing prejudice and prejudice-related bullying

At The Joseph Whitaker School we recognise our legal obligations to eliminate discrimination, harassment and victimisation, as well as the duty to foster positive relations between groups and individuals.

The school has adopted the public bodies' standard definition for prejudicial incidences, adapted from the Stephen Lawrence definition of a racist incident which states that:

“A hate incident is any incident which is perceived by the victim or any other person to be motivated by the offender’s prejudice against people because of their age, disability, gender, race, religion, sexual orientation or other reason.”

As a school we take our obligations seriously and will deal with such incidents sensitively and responsibly for both the victim and the perpetrator, in accordance with our behaviour policy.

Should such an incident occur we will contact both the victim and perpetrator’s carers to explain the issue and what actions are to be taken.

As a matter of policy we do share this information with the Local Authority so that a county wide picture can be established and support allocated as appropriate. This may include providing names of the perpetrator so cross reference can be made with incidents within the community. Information about the number, type and seriousness of such incidents, will be reported regularly to the governing body.

Curriculum, Teaching and Assessment

- Curriculum planning will take account of the needs of all students, including ethnicity, background, disability and language needs
- The school monitors and evaluates its effectiveness in providing an appropriate curriculum for all
- The criteria used for allocating students to optional subjects are fair and equitable to all students

- Teaching methods and styles take account of the individual needs of all students and encourage positive attitudes to difference, diversity and equality
- The school takes active steps to ensure that resources are used to promote inclusivity and are available to meet the specific needs of all students
- The school endeavours to make full use of the resources available within the local community

Students – Personal development, attainment and progress

- Students' attainment and progress in individual subjects are monitored by ethnic group and gender
- The school develops strategies for tackling unjustified disparities in the attainment and progress of particular groups
- The school values the achievements and progress of all students. Students are encouraged and enabled to become independent and effective learners in their own right, so that they can realise their full potential and achieve excellence
- Promotional material for the school will reflect the diversity of all students
- All students have equal access to extra-curricular activities
- Every student is offered the support and guidance they need

Although a copy of the form may be filed in the appropriate person's file, one will be held centrally by the Headteacher's PA, so that all incidents can be clearly and simply monitored.

This policy will be regularly reviewed and is published on the school website for all stakeholders to access.

Other formats may be requested from the school office, such as easy to read large print, brail and audiotape.
